List of possible Marine Hospital Cemetery burials

LIST OF POSSIBLE MARINE HOSPITAL CEMETERY BURIALS

Record numbers refer to extended profiles available beginning on page D-29. Dates were approximated based on available information (birth date, death date and age). Causes of death have been standardized for ease of reference (ie, modifiers such as “acute” or “chronic” were removed), vernacular and variable terms have been changed to standard terms (ie, “consumption” and “tubercle of lung” became “tuberculosis”), and archaic medical terms have been updated (ie, “carcinoma” became “cancer”).

Source Codes: SFDR = San Francisco Death Records, SFPL = San Francisco Public Library, NARA-SB = National Archives, San Bruno, MHTA = Marine Hospital Service Autopsy, SUP-RB = Sailors’ Union of the Pacific Roll Books, SUP-CF = Sailors’ Union of the Pacific Member Card Files

Likelihood Codes (from most to least): BMHC = Recorded as being buried in the Marine Hospital Cemetery, MH-NBR = Died in the Marine Hospital, no burial record, MH-RN = Died Marine Hospital, no burial record, had relatives nearby who may have held funeral, SF-NBR = Died in San Francisco, no burial record, SF-RN = Died in San Francisco, no burial record, had relatives nearby who may have held funeral

Avenues for further research

AVENUES FOR FUTURE RESEARCH

The following archives and institutions may have relevant documentation that we were unable to access during this phase of the project. Should further attention be devoted to research, these are good places to continue.

Annual Reports of the Marine Hospital Service

At the very end of the 2006 research project, the California State Library was able to provide microfiche copies of the Annual Report of the Supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service of the United States, fiscal years 1873-1901. These reports contained hundreds of autopsy reports from the San Francisco hospital, greatly enlarging the list of possible burials. It is unknown whether more of these reports were generated, or if they changed format under the Public Health Service and no longer included the autopsy reports. In addition, these reports revealed the existence of the cemetery as early as 1881. Other resources were not examined for dates prior to 1884, and there may be potential burials listed for these earlier dates. City death record, funeral home records, etc. should be re-examined with these earlier dates in mind.

Olivet Memorial Park

Several attempts were made to determine who of many possible sailors had been buried in the Sailors' Union of the Pacific plot at Olivet Memorial Park in Colma, CA. Burials earlier than 1940 do not have headstones, so cemetery records would have to be examined. In 2006, the cemetery would not allow individual researchers to examine their records, but would do the research themselves on an as-possible basis. They were not able to confirm or deny any of the multiple burials on the list provided to them before this report was completed. Contact Benjamin Ruhs, (650) 755-0322.

British National Archives – Kew, England

- Births, Marriages and Deaths at Sea: Domestic Records Information 61
 - “From 1854 registers were compiled from the entries in these logs of births, deaths and marriages of passengers at sea. Ships' masters were also required by the Registration of Births and Deaths Act 1874 to report all births and deaths on board ship to the Registrar General of Shipping and Seamen (RGSS) who then reported them periodically to the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages of England and Wales, Scotland or Ireland as appropriate. Registers of reported births and deaths were kept by RGSS. Up to 1889 separate series of registers were kept for seamen and passengers but in 1890 a combined series was introduced; it should be noted that, although RGSS were required to report births and deaths to the appropriate Registrar General, over half of the entries are blank in the column headed "Which RG has been informed".”
- Records of the Registrar General of Shipping and Seamen: Deaths
 - Registers of Wages and Effects of Deceased Seamen (BT 153) cover the periods 1852-1881 and 1888-1889 (April 1881-May 1888 does not seem to have survived). Indexes to these are to be found in Index to Seamen's Names (BT 154) and Index to Ships' Names (BT 155).
 - Monthly Lists of Deaths of Seamen (BT 156) for 1886-1889, and Registers of Seamen's Death Classified by Cause (BT 157) for 1882-1888.
 - Registers of Death at Sea of British Nationals, 1875-1891 (BT 159); these were reported to RGSS under Merchant Shipping Act 1854 and Birth and Death Registration Act 1874. There are separate volumes for England and Wales, Scotland and Ireland. Those for England cover the deaths of foreign nationals. [Available on microfilm]
 - After 1890 the new series of registers are in the class Registers and Indexes of Births, Marriages and Deaths of Passengers and Seamen at Sea (BT 334). The information given in these registers is as follows: Deaths: name of ship, official number, port of registry, date of death, place of death, name of deceased, sex, age, rating [for seamen], nationality and birthplace, last place of abode, cause of death, remarks. The registers cover the period 1891-1964 and there are indexes arranged both by ships' names and individuals' names. Entries in the indexes in red ink refer to passengers; those in black ink to crew.
