THE PRESIDIO

This inspiring setting is where San Francisco began. Home to native peoples for a thousand years, it later became a cultural crossroads for three nations. In 1776, the Presidio was established as Spain's northernmost outpost in the Americas. It then served as a Mexican fort from 1822 until 1846, when it became a premier U.S. Army post. The Army departed in 1994, and the Presidio began its transformation to a new kind of national park.

Today's Presidio is home to the spectacular vistas, nature, and programs that you would expect in a great national park, plus much more. Hundreds of former military buildings are now animated by more than 3,000 residents and 200 organizations, many of which welcome and serve the public. The park is managed by the Presidio Trust, in partnership with the National Park Service.
